GOING TO WAR ON LITTER

By Lucy Purdy

LITTER louts filling the streets of Haringey with crisp packets, drink cans and smouldering cigarette butts face hefty fines under a tough new policy unveiled this week.

Inconsiderate pedestrians who drop rubbish will now be slapped with a £75 fine under Haringey Council's new zero-tolerance policy aimed at keeping the streets clean and saving thousands of pounds in clean-up bills. The council has spent a year warning people of the costly consequences of dumping their litter and said it is now "ready to prosecute" those who continue to blight the streets.

Also in the firing line are motorists who casually throw litter from windows.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for neighbourhoods, said: "We will not tolerate this thoughtless anti-social behaviour which costs the council thousands of pounds of taxpayers' money.

"Cigarette butts are waste too and it is not acceptable to throw them on the floor.

Every resident in Haringey then has to pay to get these swept and disposed of.

"Worst of all are those who entertain themselves at major road junctions by disposing of their car litter into the road. In order to clean these roads we have to actually close a main thoroughfare, inconveniencing everyone."

Anyone now caught dropping litter of any form will be given a fixed penalty notice and have to pay £75.

The main junction of the Great Cambridge Road in Tottenham is a notorious rubbish hotspot because many thousands of motorists choose to empty their litter there each year. Each month, the council is forced to apply for a Traffic Management Order from TfL and permission from the Highways Department to close the road in order to sweep it, at a cost of about £2,000 each time.

So far this month the council has held three "Stop It" operations around the Great Cambridge Road, fining motorists caught littering from their vehicles.

Park memorial to son stolen by 'act of hate'

By Lucy Purdy

A MEMORIAL to murdered soldier Patrick Azimkar has been unveiled in the park where he spent many hours playing football with friends.

A bench and plaque have been unveiled in Belmont Recreation Ground, in Wood Green, as a lasting tribute to the 21-year-old who was killed in Northern Ireland in 2009.

Sapper Patrick and fellow soldier Mark Quinsey, 23, were shot with semi-automatic rifles as they collected a takeaway pizza from outside the Masereene base in County Antrim. Responsibility for the death of the two soldiers was later claimed by dissident Republican group the Real IRA.

An oak tree and a rowan tree were also planted on the memorial spot, which the family have named Pat's Corner as a reminder of his love for life.

Patrick's mother, Geraldine Ferguson, told the Advertiser: "This park was a home from home for Patrick and an important part of his life since he was an infant. He went to nursery, infant and junior school near here and would still come to play football here when he was back on home leave.

"An awful lot of people around here did know Patrick and we hope the memorial will become a part of local history. We are very proud of what Patrick achieved but it came at such a huge cost to us. We lost our precious son and it is still very hard every day."

She added: "We are devastated about what happened and horrified that it was such a terrible act of hate. We are just baffled as to how anybody could do that to a young, unarmed man. It is mystifying to us."

A replica of a Young Haringey Hero award which Patrick posthumously received in 2009 has been added to the memorial, which was built by colleagues of Patrick's father Mehmet Azimkar at construction firm Kier Islington.

Around 50 friends and family members, including his 26-year-old brother James, attended a quiet unveiling service in the park before returning to the family's home in nearby Boundary Road to share their memories of Patrick.

"We've had fantastic support from everyone," added Mrs Ferguson. "The extraordinary level of support and kindness that we have received has been a great help to us. We are getting by day by day."

Tributes paid to our armed forces

Honouring the armed forces: Cadets were out on parade on Sunday

ARMED forces veterans joined dignitaries from Haringey to mark Armed Forces Day and the 150th anniversary of the cadets. A flag-raising ceremony took place outside the Civic Centre in Wood Green last Monday before a parade featuring local cadet groups and a cadet band on Sunday. The Deputy Lieutenant of Haringey, Major Rosemary Warne, and the mayor of Haringey, Councillor Eddie Griffith, took the formal salute after the march from Bounds Green to Wood Green. Earlier in the week, veterans joined the mayor and council chief executive Kevin Crompton for the annual flag-raising ceremony in High Road.

Women freed in brothel raid

WOMEN who had been forced to work as prostitutes were rescued by police officers last week during early morning raids on brothels across Haringey and Enfield. A group of 19 women who are believed to be victims of sexual exploitation were discovered at brothels in Seven Sisters Road, Tottenham High Road, and in College Close, Edmonton. They were closed down at about 4am last Tuesday by officers investigating a network of sex premises. Six women and a man were also arrested on suspicion of controlling a brothel. All of the women found have been referred to organisations which specialise in helping vulnerable women.

Bid to abduct girl is failure

POLICE are investigating a suspected abduction attempt in Highgate after a woman tried to lure a 12-year-old girl into her car. At about 8.10am on Wednesday June 16, the girl was walking in Shepherd's Hill near the junction with Stanhope Road when a car pulled up beside her. The driver, described as white and in her fifties with blonde hair, told her to get into the car but the girl refused. A member of the public then warned the girl to run to safety. Anyone with information should contact DC Zoe Bentley of Haringey CID on 020 8345 0712.

Judge halts plans to develop Wards Corner

By Lucy Purdy

A JUDGE ruled that the needs of ethnic minority communities in Haringey had been ignored as he quashed planning permission for the multi-million Wards Corner redevelopment.

The Court of Appeal revoked permission for the south Tottenham site and reminded councils they have a duty to consider the impact of large developments on different racial groups.

Haringey Council had granted permission to developer Grainger for the area at the junction of Seven Sisters Road and High Road, which includes an indoor Latin market and 33 other houses and flats in nearby West Green Road.

Janet Harris, who helped form the Wards Corner Community

Judicial opinion was clearly divided over this issue.

Coalition in opposition to the plans, also challenged the development on the basis that it would raise business rents and over the lack of affordable housing.

A High Court judge had rejected the challenge but 73-year-old Mrs Harris, who lives in nearby sheltered housing, took her case to the Court of Appeal, backed by the Equality and Human Rights Commission.

She told the Advertiser: "When I heard the ruling I felt elation, a sort of relief that we can move on further now. There is an awful lot of work to do now in terms of negotiations with the developers and the council – this is just the beginning."

The council had supported Grainger's proposals for the area, saying it badly needs to be upgraded, but will now have to go back to the drawing board.

A spokesman said: "Judicial opinion was clearly divided over this issue. Our case had been upheld in the High Court but the Court of Appeal came to another view. We had no intention of not complying with the law and are grateful for this clarification."

"We remain committed to regenerating Seven Sisters for the benefit of all local residents and businesses and will now consider the best ways forward." news.haringey@nlhnews.co.uk

Mums fight loss of breast-feeding post

By Lucy Purdy

CONCERNED mothers in Haringey have launched a campaign to reinstate the post of a midwife specialising in helping new mums to breast-feed after NHS Haringey scrapped it during National Breast-feeding Week.

A group of mums has urged the authority to reconsider and say the support they received while breast-feeding their newborn babies was vital.

They say it is crucial to encourage stressed out first-time mothers to stick at breast-feeding which can often prove difficult and traumatic.

Alice Hoyle, who had help breast-feeding her five-month-old daughter Elsa, said: "Unless I had received support, there is no way I would still be breast-feeding my daughter now. We had a lot of problems which we needed specialist support for."

"It is a false economy and short-sighted to remove a breast-feeding specialist because breast-feeding reduces the likelihood of babies being hospitalised and having issues such as respiratory problems in the first two years of life."

Lunch time: Kirsty Young with baby Joseph and Catherin Kronin with baby Richard at a picnic to mark the launch of a petition to reinstate the breast-feeding specialist

"Breast-feeding is very difficult, especially for the first three months. It's exhausting – even if you have no problems. It is something you need help with to get established."

The group has organised a Facebook group and the mums are also circulating a petition.

Mrs Hoyle, who lives in Wood Green, added: "The support in the borough is brilliant; we do not want it to be cut."

A spokeswoman for NHS

Haringey said: "We employ a dedicated member of staff whose job it is to promote breast-feeding. Until recently she was supported on a temporary basis by an agency midwife. This was a temporary post to complete set work for the development of breast-feeding, which is now complete."

"We will continue to monitor breast-feeding rates and ensure we encourage mums to breast-feed their new born babies."

Searching for dinner off the beaten track

Foraging for fruit and vegetables in Finsbury Park

FINDING food on your way home from work usually involves a half-hearted stop at the supermarket.

But the likes of celebrity chefs Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall and Valentine Warner, together with the organisers of a trip in Finsbury Park last week, are urging us to think differently and gather edible wild food in our local area – even in the unpromising-looking woodlands and hedgerows of Zone 2.

I joined a small group on a sunny morning last Friday to search Parkland Walk for free food, and was pleasantly surprised at how much we found.

“We’re actually in a sort of post-green, pre-fruit time at the moment, but if you walk around regularly you will start to learn exactly when things are going to be ripe and in season. Some things are only around for a week and then they are gone,” explained Gemma Harris of the Sustainable Haringey Food Group.

Armed with sunglasses, foraging books – crucial in averting mis-identification disasters – and a penknife or two (might be best to avoid the knife arches at the Tube station with these) we began to scour the edges of the sun-dappled path for lunch. Hogweed was our first find, the green shoots of which can be eaten raw or cooked and taste watery but fresh.

“We cooked up some of the shoots back in May with spring onions and ginger and it was really nice,” enthused Jo Homan from Transition Finsbury Park who helped organise the walk. “It doesn’t look particularly appetising now, but when it’s first grown, before the flowers come, it is a really nice vegetable.”

As we happily munched the stalks and chatted about how similar it tastes to celery, fellow forager Phil Mason, who is involved in the Friends Of Tottenham Marshes group, piped up: “Of course, it is not to be confused with giant hogweed, which is one of the most poisonous plants in the country.”

That didn’t go down quite as well... But while picking with caution is one of the most important rules of foraging, people should not be put off too easily although, as we carefully stripped back thistle stalks to reveal a gleaming green edible stalk, it does seem quite a labour-intensive job.

“But food is labour intensive, it’s just that we don’t realise it,” pointed out Gemma. “If we had more of a fair society we would be putting a lot more work into producing what we eat, instead of just finding it packaged up on the supermarket shelves.

“We aren’t picking anything which is rare or delicate but, if anything, the kind of things that people try to keep in check, such as nettles. Some of our most despised weeds are actually some of the best things to eat. One of my favourites is dandelion and nettles which can be turned into a lovely soup.

“I think our tastebuds have become infantilised today and we are used to really bland flavours. But it just depends on what you’re used to.”

Higher up in the hedges we spotted the dusty green skins of figs waiting to ripen up in the sun, and flashes of bright red in the form of cherries which still need a few weeks to grow out of their sour taste.

We also spotted lime trees, lots of stinging nettles and also some burdock, the roots of which are fermented along with dandelion to make a naturally fizzy cordial. There is also rosebay willowherb – the leaves of which can be added to salads.

“The books always say that this or that tastes either like asparagus or spinach,” laughed Gemma. “They have quite high aspirations! This book also says that the shoots of rosebay willowherb are used in parts of Siberia to make a hallucinogenic drink, the affects of which are comparable to the combined effects of gin and LSD! I think perhaps we won’t try that at the picnic...”

Knows his onions: Phil Mason dives in to hunt for berries

Safety first: Checking the book to ensure nothing is poisonous

To a shout of “I think I’ve found some hedge mustard!” we tentatively sampled another plant which did indeed taste just like Colman’s English mustard, before heading back towards Finsbury Park.

Foraging in Parkland Walk is a great chance to reconnect with nature, get outside and enjoy some fresh air and light exercise. After quietly counting my stings back at the office, I decided I had got off lightly and am really looking forward to the next chance to grasp the nettle and give foraging another go.

□ The next foraging date has been set for 3pm on Friday July 23. The group is also holding a Plum Day to mark the peak of the plum season on July 25. ## Meaty big slices of English tradition for hungry diners

Halfway House, 801 Great Cambridge Road, Enfield O20 8367 4290

THIS England... the land of warm beer, roast beef and steam puddings.

A nation which centuries ago rejected finesse and style in cooking for hearty, meat-based meals to fortify the farmer or the yeoman as they headed off to the fields or war.

That is the England that greets us as we swung open the doors of the Halfway House in Enfield like some wild west saloon and demanded our bellies be satisfied with good stodgy grub.

Now another cheerleader for Toby Carvery, the House looks pretty much like the other carvery we have more than a passing acquaintance with in High Street, Barnet.

Celebrating everything that's best about our emerald isle, the walls are laden with images of minis, Churchill, bulldogs, 1970s comedians and... Take That.

The decor is a little bit naff but what you can't complain about is the carvery itself – at £5.25 for lunch (£7.50 in the evenings) one of the best bargains in town. Turkey, gammon or beef was first up – or slices of all three if, like us, you can't decide – followed by an absolute mass of as much veg as you can squeeze on to your plate comprising (deep breath) broccoli, carrots, cabbage, onions, roast potatoes, new potatoes, peas, onions and mushrooms, very good crispy stuffing and various mutant Yorkshire puddings (which, for once, look as big as those on the place mats featuring gigantic Yorkshires over the motto, "We're big on food").

We also noted alternatives including, "Today's vegetarian lunchtime choice", and a couple of pies but, frankly, why bother if you're a carnivore and there's a huge bird, pig and cow sizzling in front of you?!

Surprisingly, considering the vast amount of grub piled high in the steaming pots, all the veg was well cooked and the meat was tender.

Many, of course, would be well satisfied by now but the gannets' stomach is an insatiable beast and we just had to go for the desserts of bramley apple crumble and chocolate brownie ice cream (both £3.20). Every hot pudding comes with the "legendary bottomless custard jug" which allows you to top up for free and caused us much amusement as we imagined custardaholics necking pints of the yellow liquid in a bid to put this questionable claim to the test.

What's less debatable is that we will be returning to the Halfway House in the very near future especially because every weekday evening is themed differently with "Hearty Dishes" on Tuesdays sounding right up our street.

● Food is served from noon to 10pm, seven days a week.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection

The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

Raising the roof at Haringey Shed

CELEBRATE the best of the Haringey Shed in Tottenham this Saturday.

The inclusive theatre company's first-ever Shed Fest takes place at the Bernie Grant Arts Centre with three high-octane hours of singing, dancing and drama.

The Shed bands, Big Noise Choir, Very Vocals Choir, children's theatre groups and dance company Shed Moves will be coming together for what promises to be a spectacular afternoon from its talented students.

"We've now been going for ten years and this is the start of our celebrations," said company manager Lucy Clark. "Expect original music from our Shed bands accompanied by our dance group Shed Moves along with well known pop songs, traditional gospel songs, folk and disco from the choirs."

Adding a little drama to the afternoon The Children's Theatre performs It's A Mystery – a mysterious play with songs – while its Youth Theatre group stages Affection In The Bakery Section, an original piece of music theatre loosely based on Romeo And Juliet.

"The Youth Theatre were very keen to tackle Shakespeare this term after a brilliant hip-hop Shakespeare workshop with the award-winning artist Akala," said Lucy.

"Inspired by their work with him they transferred the location of Romeo And Juliet from fair Verona to a supermarket in fair Tottenham!"

● Shed Fest runs from 2pm to 5pm at the venue in Town Hall Approach Road. Tickets cost £8 (free for 16-year-olds and under). Both performance will be BSL interpreted. For more details and reservations call the box office on 020 8365 5450.

what's on

Out and about

● ROCK out through the land of musicals at the Millfield next week. Tickets range from £12.50 to £15 and shows start at 7.30pm. For more details call the box office on 020 8807 6680.

● THE Kings Of The Swingers bring their finger-clickin' cool to Crouch End this Friday. Ta Mere promise a joyful mix of jazz cabaret and popular music from the 1910s to the 1940s. Expect harmonicas and violins, bagpipes and drums Downstairs at the King's Head in Crouch End Hill. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £8 (£6 concs). Call the box office on 020 8340 1028.

● ADD a little enchantment to your average Monday night. Monday Night Magic returns to Upstairs at the Gatehouse in Highgate Village, Highgate, next Monday. John Lenahan is the magician of choice turning tricks at the elevated venue from 8pm. Tickets cost £12 (£10 concs). Call the box office on 020 8340 3488.

Paradis lost in plot

Heartbreaker (15)

Dir: Pascal Chaumeil. Starring: Romain Duris, Vanessa Paradis, Julie Ferrier

"I THOUGHT you'd be more art-house" says him to her. "I thought you would be more action movie," replies her to him.

And that neatly sums up the central confusion at the heart of this French rom-com that thinks it's sophisticated but ends up a little too American in its zany action.

Reminiscent of US confidence trickster comedies such as Dirty Rotten Scoundrels and the similarly named Heartbreakers, the simple premise is that Alex (Duris), his sister and her husband spend their lives getting paid to break up relationships. Doesn't sound very rom-com but there are moral provisos including: the woman can't be desperately in love with her partner and the handsome Alex only "opens their eyes, not their legs."

While his team don a variety of costumes and play around with hi-tech surveillance equipment, Alex has mastered the art of seduction to get to that first kiss phase and then let nature take its course.

Their toughest assignment, however, is one Juliette Van Der Becq (Paradis) who's only a week away from marrying her seemingly perfect boyfriend, English chap Jonathan (Andrew Lincoln whom I still think of as Egg from This Life).

Madcap: But this 'zany' action/rom-com misses the mark

The wedding is taking place in Monaco so cue lots of fabulous hotels, cars, money shots etc as Alex pretends to be hired by her father as a bodyguard and Juliette starts off hating him but then... well, it wouldn't take a genius to work out what happens.

And that's part of the problem – the fact it is so formulaic and predictable and lacking in that subtlety and intelligence we expect from our French neighbours. In many respects it's the kind of film Hollywood would remake with an American setting and actors by the end of the year but it's so in thrall to its culture anyway – Alex keeps watching Dirty Dancing to impress Juliette as it's her favourite film – that there seems little point.

What does save it are the performances with two genuinely likeable leads as Duris proves he can do comedy and singer Paradis proves she can do acting.

Now Showing...

The Collector (18)

Latest edition of the repugnant "torture porn" horror genre involving fish hooks where there really shouldn't be fish hooks. A serial killer collects victims and devises different ways to torture folk in a poor man's Saw gore bore.

Breathless (PG)

If ever one word summed up a film perfectly it's the title of this heady, dazzling, hugely influential movie that crashed into film's firmament and changed cinematic landscape forever. Rereleased for its 50th anniversary, Jean Luc Godard's classic is still the coolest statement since shades were invented.

Tetro (15)

Sumptuous black and white poem shot in sultry Buenos Aires is Francis Ford Coppola's offering. Younger brother of troubled writer, Tetro travels to the city to find out why he was left years before. Oedipal drama veers from sublime to ridiculous in equal measure.

MacGyver (15)

In an era of sophisticated comedy this spoof of the US adventure TV series stands out like a high-heeled hooker at the local W.I. But... you still laugh as the titular idiot savant blows up good guys and baddies in equal measure.

ATTENTION LANDLORDS!

BTC LETTINGS WILL MANAGE ALL YOUR PROPERTY HEADACHES FOR ONLY 5%

Wouldn't it be great if the only thing you had to do with letting your property was enjoy your monthly income?

- * Properties urgently required
- * 1-3 years guaranteed rent available
- * Tenants with full referencing and guarantors
- * Contracts with Australian - New Zealand teachers, Indian IT graduates
- * Property Inspection Report every three months

Rents we will achieve for your flat/house:

- ★ Studio £650 - £750;
- ★ 1 bed £750 - £800;
- ★ 2 bed £950 - £1050;
- ★ 3 bed £1200 - £1300;
- ★ 4 bed £1500 - £1700;
- ★ 5 bed £2000+

BTC Lettings market reviews:

- ★ With not many property owners wanting to sell in this market, there is an overspill of properties to let, here at BTC we have over 200 properties to let
- ★ We are letting 1-3 properties a day - up to 50 a month, i.e. ONLY THE BEST SURVIVE!
- ★ With hunting tenants having sooooo much choice, one thing is clear and very important. There is just too much competition, if you are thinking of letting your property, the condition/decoration will have to be of high standard, (laminated flooring would be a good tip!).
- ★ Apart from poor condition, you may particularly struggle to find tenants if the property is above commercial property or in a high rise block.
- ★ Landlords accepting tenants on housing benefit are achieving higher rent.
- ★ Apart from gas safety certificate, all newly let properties must have an EPC certificate (Energy performance certificate).

If you have any more questions/queries relating to letting your property or current letting market, please call us on 020 8889 7474

With careful research, buying off-plan could really pay off

WITH the housing market in London and the south-east firmly on the road to recovery and housing supply at an 80-year low, buying property off-plan is finally starting to prove popular again.

More early-bird homebuyers and property investors are buying off-plan to secure a modern brand new property at a reduced price.

Purchasing property off-plan presents an opportunity to secure a discount on the retail price, particularly during early phases of construction when housebuilders need funds to boost cashflow.

Not only is it potentially cheaper to buy off-plan, it can also be a good investment because it might be worth more by the time you move in.

Housebuilders now vie for more land upon which to build, with most developers reporting high-volume forward sales often before ground is even broken on a project. Yet housing supply is still falling way short of growing demand, with more people looking for homes to buy.

The well-documented housing shortage in north London is increasing property prices, which now near the 2007 peak. But besides buying at the right time, people need to buy in the right location from developers with a good track record.

Here are some new-home highlights in the area. Grainger Plc is releasing the last of its new-build homes – Hornsey Road Apartments in Hornsey – comprising one, two and three-bedroom apartments, with prices starting from £220,000.

Over in Colindale, St George is half way to building Beaufort Park. The development, due for completion in 2016, will feature more than 3,000 homes from £160,000. So far, 700 have been sold.

In Watford building is yet to start on a number of homes at Symonds Park by Barratt Homes. The project will consist of 223 newbuilds, from £165,000.

When buying property, it is important that homebuyers stay informed with all market trends by continuously analysing and researching the property industry.

Discerning homebuyers may wish to check our website for all the latest market news to take you through the whole process of buying new-build.

HARRY EYES FABIO'S JOB

By Lee Husson

TOTTENHAM boss Harry Redknapp has thrown his name into the hat to replace Fabio Capello should the Italian get the boot following England's disastrous World Cup campaign.

The pressure is continuing to build on Three Lions boss Capello after Sunday's humiliating 4-1 defeat by Germany.

England disappointed throughout the tournament in South Africa, with the only highlight being a 1-0 win over lowly Slovenia.

The FA have confirmed that Capello's future will be decided in two weeks' time, and Redknapp – who has openly criticised the England manager in the past – insists that the next boss should be an Englishman, and could be him.

"The FA have got a manager and until he's not the manager it's difficult to talk about it. But I'm English, who wouldn't want to manage England?" he said.

"There's not an Englishman – whether it's me, Roy Hodgson or Sam Allardyce – who would turn the job down because it's our country and we want to manage our country."

"No-one is ever going to turn that job down."

He added: "Could you imagine an Englishman managing the Italian national team? It just doesn't happen."

"Capello has a fantastic record at club level, but look, we've had a go with it now."

"When he finally moves on surely there has to be a young guy or somebody in this country. Surely we have to find an English manager."

"We should be able to produce someone who can manage the England football team and, let's be honest, they can't do any worse."

□ Brazilian striker Luis Fabiano has ruled out a move to Tottenham this summer.

The Sevilla star does not want to sign a new contract with the Spanish club and he is a target of AC Milan and Manchester United.

"At 29 I now need to join a club where I can challenge for the highest honours," he said.

"I have heard Tottenham made an inquiry about me, but that is not somewhere I am going to be able to win the Premier League or the European Cup in the next four years."

"There would be no point in me joining a smaller team. The choice will come down to Manchester United and AC Milan."

Homegrown: Redknapp wants an English manager

No joy for Skolars despite Ade show

ADE ADEBISI'S second-half hat-trick could not stop the London Skolars falling to a 60-16 defeat as league leaders Hunslet ran riot on Sunday.

Wayne McHugh and Waine Pryce scored four tries apiece for the home side as James Massara's side were left to reflect on another hammering in Co-operative Championship One.

McHugh pounced on a Skolars' error under a high ball to touch down after just three minutes, which was soon followed by a try for Pryce in the right corner.

Nathan Larvin then finished off a move starting from the base of a scrum 30 metres out, with Pryce adding his second just before the half hour mark.

Two more tries in the last two minutes of the first half saw a completely overwhelmed Skolars go in 30 points down as Hawks player-coach Paul March nipped through the defence, before Richard Chapman's kick found Pryce to complete his hat-trick.

The Skolars started the second half in much brighter fashion, with Adebisi scoring his first try two minutes in as he muscled his way through the defence out wide on the right to touch down in the corner.

McHugh replied with his second try soon afterwards, but Adebisi touched down again soon after, before Neil Thorman intercepted a pass and raced away before offloading for Adebisi to power over the line and secure a hat-trick.

But that was as good as it got for the Skolars as tries from Danny Grimshaw, David March and a fourth by McHugh saw Hunslet burst past 50 points, before Pryce took them to the 60 mark.
